

Have You Anything to Buy?
Try the WANT ADS.

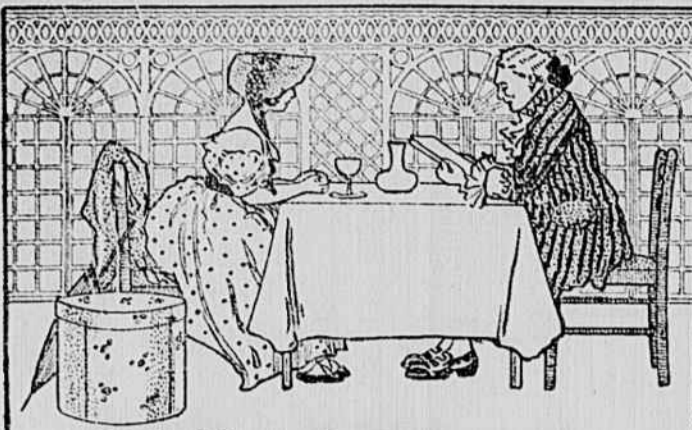

Wednesday

The Times Dispatch

November 26, 1913.

Have You Anything to Sell?
Try the WANT ADS.

Miller & Rhoads

Miller & Rhoads

Announce!

The Opening of Their
New Colonial Tea Room

Third Floor--Sixth Street Side

To-day, Wednesday,

November 26th

Finest Appointed Tea Room in the South
Luncheon Hours, 12 to 3:30

Afternoon Social Tea, 4:30 to 5:45

NOTE--Special parties may be accommodated by application to Miss Royster

VOTES TO ACCEPT FINANCE COMMITTEE

Finance Committee Opposed to Loan of Old Dominion Hospital.

WILL GET HOME FOR NURSES

One Building Regarded as Sufficiently Large for City's Indigent Sick.

The Council Committee on Finance voted unanimously last night to recommend the adoption of the Medical College of Virginia's hospital offer in so far as it applied to the Virginia Hospital. It rejected the offer of the free loan of the Old Dominion Hospital, on the ground that the separation of the City Hospital in two buildings would make the operating cost too heavy. The resolution providing for the acceptance of both the Virginia and Old Dominion Hospitals was before the committee with the unanimous approval of the Council and Finance Committees.

Besides striking out the sections relating to the Old Dominion Hospital, the Finance Committee amended the paper in two other respects. One was inserted allowing patients in the new hospital the right to employ private physicians—a privilege not granted at the City Home Hospital. The amendment gives the city the right to use the Virginia Hospital for a term of ten years or less. The original paper specified no time limit.

With the Virginia hospital the city accepts also, under the resolution ratified by the Finance Committee, the loan of the building on Broad Street next to the Monumental Episcopal Church, to be used for a nurses' home.

Assures Its Passage.
With the unanimous approval of the Public Utilities and Finance Committees, as well as a speech of the committee, which conducted a preliminary investigation, the free loan offer of the Medical College of Virginia, it is believed, is practically assured of approval by the Council. It will probably come to a vote for the first time at the meeting of the Common Council on Monday night.

No delay is expected because of the Finance Committee's refusal to concur in the acceptance of the Old Dominion Hospital. This building is much inferior to the Virginia Hospital in terms of equipment and repair, and would require a considerable alteration before it could be used. Its location, some distance from the other hospital, also detracts further from its value for the city's purpose.

Virginia Large Enough.

In the opinion of the Council Committee the Virginia Hospital is large enough to meet the city's requirements for some time to come. With the construction of several new buildings, it can be made to provide accommodations for 150 patients. Figures submitted by John Hirschberg, of the Administrative Board, show the average daily number of patients at the City Home to be 118.

The original plan was to use the old Dominion Hospital for the colored patients and the Virginia Hospital for the white. The modification will put the sick of both races in the Virginia Hospital.

According to statements of Mr. Hirschberg and Dr. George Ben Johnston to the Public Utilities Committee, the acceptance of the college offer will mean a saving of $10,000 per year. The estimate was for the use of both the Old Dominion Hospital and the Virginia Hospital. The estimate of the former, it is believed, will not materially affect the city's budget.

May Cost $25,000.
Councilmen expressed with hospital conditions expressed the belief last night that the occupation of the Virginia Hospital will mean an additional annual expense of not less than $25,000. Under the more favorable conditions at the new hospital the city, it was pointed out, will be called upon to care for many more patients than were housed at the Virginia Hospital. The limited hospital equipment, it is believed, will still have to be maintained at the City Home to care for the aged, the infirm, and the indigent.

The chief consideration that led the committee to approve the removal of the sick to the Virginia Hospital was the removal of the sick to the Virginia Hospital. The city Home will be used exclusively for the care of the indigent.

Looks to New Hospital.
While the ratification of the hospital offer by the Council will mean immediate relief from overcrowded conditions at the City Home, the ratification of the Virginia Hospital will not be permanent. The conviction is general among members of the Council that the ratification will come only with the erection of a new city hospital, and that the construction of such a plant cannot much longer be deferred.

The ratification of the hospital project by the Council will mean the city's closer affiliation with the Medical College of Virginia—a relationship which has been strongly urged by the college authorities and citizens. The affiliation, it is believed, will continue when the city builds its own hospital and will be mutually helpful.

FOR UNDERGROUND CROSSING
Citizens of Crozet Appeal to Corporation Commission Against C. & O.

The Citizens of Crozet, Va., have appealed to the Corporation Commission for the Chesapeake and Ohio Railway for the abolition of a grade crossing at Crozet. The crossing is a dangerous one, and the citizens desire a grade crossing. The Corporation Commission has refused to grant the appeal, and the citizens are now appealing to the State Corporation Commission.

Acquitted of Murder.
Henry Schuler, a colored boy, was acquitted by the Circuit Court of the charge of murdering a white boy, last Saturday. The shooting was accidental, and a coroner's jury returned a verdict to that effect. Schuler stood almost immediately after the shooting.

Accused of Stealing Motorcycle.
Merle Carter was arrested yesterday by Detective Wiley and G. P. Smith on the charge of stealing a motorcycle from W. W. Hines.

Wanted in Petersburg.
P. A. Hines was arrested yesterday by Detective Wiley and G. P. Smith on the charge of being a fugitive from justice in Petersburg. He was immediately taken to the Petersburg Police Court.

SAVINGS BANK
RICHMOND
1117 MAIN ST.

Poverty will vanish if people will only heed the warning. Save during your productive period, and the evening of life will be spent in comfort.

UNITED STATES DEPOSITORY FOR POSTAL SAVINGS FUNDS

DAVIS MEMORIAL ON POST OFFICE

With Secretary McAdoo's Consent, Bronze Tablet Will Be Unveiled Friday.

COX TO MAKE THE ADDRESS

Marks Site of Offices Occupied by President of Confederate States.

A bronze tablet, being erected on the Main Street front of the Federal Building by the Confederate Memorial Literary Society, will be unveiled on Friday afternoon. Edwin P. Cox, member of the House of Delegates from Richmond, will make the address.

For some time a committee of the Confederate Memorial Literary Society has been engaged in placing permanent markers to preserve certain historic locations. Stones have been placed at the Tredegar Works, where Confederate cannon were manufactured, at the house where General J. E. Stuart died, and at other points.

In order to mark the executive offices of the Confederacy, it was necessary for the committee to secure the consent of Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo, as all public buildings are under the Treasury Department. This was readily obtained, and a bronze tablet bearing the historic facts and dates has been prepared.

Office of President Davis.
The Richmond Federal Building was erected in 1850. It was the office of the President of the Confederate States and of the Treasury Department during the war.

Because of its massive construction, it was not burned in the fire at the evacuation, which swept the other side of Main Street, and destroyed buildings on both sides. Two years after the war, Mr. Davis was arraigned before a Federal grand jury in this same building, in proceedings which were later dismissed by the government without trial. Recently the structure has been thoroughly remodeled and rebuilt, and only a portion of the stone walls on the east side remain. The tablet will be affixed to a portion of the old front of the building.

The ready consent of the Federal authorities to mark a Federal building in memory of President Jefferson Davis is in strong contrast to the feeling of the Confederates, who had been against giving the franchise to women, had conceded the fact that the State had gained through their influence.

Everybody was so glad afterwards, he said, that the women had the vote, that the men minded the babies and children while the women cast the ballot. He had found in his own home that the women were waiting in line for the chance to enter the booth. And the women, he said, were so proud that they had the vote that they put on their best dress when they went out on election day to voice their sentiments.

He denied, too, that enfranchisement of women caused discord in the family. He had found in his own home that the men minded the babies and children while the women cast the ballot. He had found in his own home that the women were waiting in line for the chance to enter the booth. And the women, he said, were so proud that they had the vote that they put on their best dress when they went out on election day to voice their sentiments.

Seals in Demand
AT MANY STORES

Nurses Believe Sale for Consumptives This Winter Will Be Largest in History of Charity.

With the beginning yesterday of the annual sale of Red Cross Christmas seals, the Nurses' Settlement expressed the belief that this year's sale will be the largest in the history of this city for the consumptives of the State.

The appearance of the cheery Christmas wreaths and the familiar Red Cross in store windows attracted the attention of the thousands who came to "shop early." A nurse, who made the rounds of the principal stores in the afternoon, was told that the day's sale was promising, and that "business" was good.

The Nurses' Settlement and the State Antituberculosis Association, which are conducting the sale as agents for the American Red Cross, are particularly impressed at the widespread information regarding the seals.

Said one of the nurses last night, in discussing the campaign: "We are employed to find that the people who buy the Red Cross seals are for, and why they should be purchased by all the people. All seem to understand that the sale is part of the nation-wide effort to raise funds for the care of the indigent consumptives of America; and all realize that the funds raised in this simple fashion are devoted to a work of universal appeal."

It is particularly, we hope the public will understand that the sale is as much for popular education as it is for funds. We are trying to show that we are raising money because the consumptives who are the most serious that confronts the American people. We emphasize the fact that in Virginia alone more than 2,400 people died last year from Virginia.

Departments for the prevention of the disease to other thousands who may be doomed. Those who buy Christmas seals not only fight against consumption, but work for better health generally.

T. P. A. Not Collecting Money.
The T. P. A. of Virginia announces that it is not at this time collecting money for use in railroad matters.

Pardon for Tom Robertson.
Governor Mann granted a conditional pardon yesterday to Tom Robertson, convicted of assault and battery in the Corporation Court of Lynchburg and sentenced to serve twelve months in jail.

U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals.
The United States Circuit Court of Appeals reconvened yesterday at 10 o'clock, with Circuit Judge Pritchard (presiding) and Judges Lusk and Blair in attendance.

It was argued yesterday: No. 1154—Debt, mortgage of Jones, bankrupt, vs. H. Beale Davis, trustee of all appeals; appeal from District Court at Richmond, Va. (No. 1154).

No. 1155—Debt, mortgage of Jones, bankrupt, vs. H. Beale Davis, trustee of all appeals; appeal from District Court at Richmond, Va. (No. 1155).

No. 1156—Debt, mortgage of Jones, bankrupt, vs. H. Beale Davis, trustee of all appeals; appeal from District Court at Richmond, Va. (No. 1156).

No. 1157—Debt, mortgage of Jones, bankrupt, vs. H. Beale Davis, trustee of all appeals; appeal from District Court at Richmond, Va. (No. 1157).

No. 1158—Debt, mortgage of Jones, bankrupt, vs. H. Beale Davis, trustee of all appeals; appeal from District Court at Richmond, Va. (No. 1158).

No. 1159—Debt, mortgage of Jones, bankrupt, vs. H. Beale Davis, trustee of all appeals; appeal from District Court at Richmond, Va. (No. 1159).

No. 1160—Debt, mortgage of Jones, bankrupt, vs. H. Beale Davis, trustee of all appeals; appeal from District Court at Richmond, Va. (No. 1160).

No. 1161—Debt, mortgage of Jones, bankrupt, vs. H. Beale Davis, trustee of all appeals; appeal from District Court at Richmond, Va. (No. 1161).

No. 1162—Debt, mortgage of Jones, bankrupt, vs. H. Beale Davis, trustee of all appeals; appeal from District Court at Richmond, Va. (No. 1162).

No. 1163—Debt, mortgage of Jones, bankrupt, vs. H. Beale Davis, trustee of all appeals; appeal from District Court at Richmond, Va. (No. 1163).

No. 1164—Debt, mortgage of Jones, bankrupt, vs. H. Beale Davis, trustee of all appeals; appeal from District Court at Richmond, Va. (No. 1164).

Formal Day and Evening Attire

For functions during and following Thanksgiving week can be quickly and correctly supplied from our ample stock. The Braided Cutaway for day wear represents the utmost in style and tailoring, while the Full Dress and Tuxedo Suits combine a style and grace that places them beyond criticism.

Every garment whether for formal or informal use denotes Fashion's latest decree for occasions of the kind.

Gans-Rady Company

BRALY PRAISES WOMAN SUFFRAGE

President of California League

Enthusiastic Over Female

Voting.

Turning to the five men on the stage sitting behind him, J. H. Braly, president of the California Men's Equal Suffrage League, halted in his address in the auditorium of the Y. M. C. A. last night to inform them that a "small group of unfranchised men" in California would the suffrage for women in the far Western State. The women joined in loud applause which followed a short speech by the speaker, who then turned back to the audience, composed mostly of women and girls, and told them of the many reforms in California for which the enfranchised women had been responsible. He read from a manuscript, but at times became so enthusiastic over his subject that he forgot the manuscript, dropped a sheet or two on the floor and traveled over the prospect of a wide field of reform when the vote shall have been gained for the women of California.

Mr. Braly was introduced by S. W. Meek, after the Rev. Russell Bowie, D. D., had offered prayer. The speaker insisted that the women must be free—free in mind, body and soul—that they must break away from the trammels which man's civilization had imposed on them.

Results in California.
In speaking of the enfranchisement of the women in California, he said that every 100 qualified women voters had been against giving the franchise to women, had conceded the fact that the State had gained through their influence.

Everybody was so glad afterwards, he said, that the women had the vote, that the men minded the babies and children while the women cast the ballot. He had found in his own home that the women were waiting in line for the chance to enter the booth. And the women, he said, were so proud that they had the vote that they put on their best dress when they went out on election day to voice their sentiments.

He denied, too, that enfranchisement of women caused discord in the family. He had found in his own home that the men minded the babies and children while the women cast the ballot. He had found in his own home that the women were waiting in line for the chance to enter the booth. And the women, he said, were so proud that they had the vote that they put on their best dress when they went out on election day to voice their sentiments.

He denied, too, that enfranchisement of women caused discord in the family. He had found in his own home that the men minded the babies and children while the women cast the ballot. He had found in his own home that the women were waiting in line for the chance to enter the booth. And the women, he said, were so proud that they had the vote that they put on their best dress when they went out on election day to voice their sentiments.

He denied, too, that enfranchisement of women caused discord in the family. He had found in his own home that the men minded the babies and children while the women cast the ballot. He had found in his own home that the women were waiting in line for the chance to enter the booth. And the women, he said, were so proud that they had the vote that they put on their best dress when they went out on election day to voice their sentiments.

He denied, too, that enfranchisement of women caused discord in the family. He had found in his own home that the men minded the babies and children while the women cast the ballot. He had found in his own home that the women were waiting in line for the chance to enter the booth. And the women, he said, were so proud that they had the vote that they put on their best dress when they went out on election day to voice their sentiments.

He denied, too, that enfranchisement of women caused discord in the family. He had found in his own home that the men minded the babies and children while the women cast the ballot. He had found in his own home that the women were waiting in line for the chance to enter the booth. And the women, he said, were so proud that they had the vote that they put on their best dress when they went out on election day to voice their sentiments.

He denied, too, that enfranchisement of women caused discord in the family. He had found in his own home that the men minded the babies and children while the women cast the ballot. He had found in his own home that the women were waiting in line for the chance to enter the booth. And the women, he said, were so proud that they had the vote that they put on their best dress when they went out on election day to voice their sentiments.

He denied, too, that enfranchisement of women caused discord in the family. He had found in his own home that the men minded the babies and children while the women cast the ballot. He had found in his own home that the women were waiting in line for the chance to enter the booth. And the women, he said, were so proud that they had the vote that they put on their best dress when they went out on election day to voice their sentiments.

He denied, too, that enfranchisement of women caused discord in the family. He had found in his own home that the men minded the babies and children while the women cast the ballot. He had found in his own home that the women were waiting in line for the chance to enter the booth. And the women, he said, were so proud that they had the vote that they put on their best dress when they went out on election day to voice their sentiments.

He denied, too, that enfranchisement of women caused discord in the family. He had found in his own home that the men minded the babies and children while the women cast the ballot. He had found in his own home that the women were waiting in line for the chance to enter the booth. And the women, he said, were so proud that they had the vote that they put on their best dress when they went out on election day to voice their sentiments.

He denied, too, that enfranchisement of women caused discord in the family. He had found in his own home that the men minded the babies and children while the women cast the ballot. He had found in his own home that the women were waiting in line for the chance to enter the booth. And the women, he said, were so proud that they had the vote that they put on their best dress when they went out on election day to voice their sentiments.

He denied, too, that enfranchisement of women caused discord in the family. He had found in his own home that the men minded the babies and children while the women cast the ballot. He had found in his own home that the women were waiting in line for the chance to enter the booth. And the women, he said, were so proud that they had the vote that they put on their best dress when they went out on election day to voice their sentiments.

He denied, too, that enfranchisement of women caused discord in the family. He had found in his own home that the men minded the babies and children while the women cast the ballot. He had found in his own home that the women were waiting in line for the chance to enter the booth. And the women, he said, were so proud that they had the vote that they put on their best dress when they went out on election day to voice their sentiments.

He denied, too, that enfranchisement of women caused discord in the family. He had found in his own home that the men minded the babies and children while the women cast the ballot. He had found in his own home that the women were waiting in line for the chance to enter the booth. And the women, he said, were so proud that they had the vote that they put on their best dress when they went out on election day to voice their sentiments.

He denied, too, that enfranchisement of women caused discord in the family. He had found in his own home that the men minded the babies and children while the women cast the ballot. He had found in his own home that the women were waiting in line for the chance to enter the booth. And the women, he said, were so proud that they had the vote that they put on their best dress when they went out on election day to voice their sentiments.

He denied, too, that enfranchisement of women caused discord in the family. He had found in his own home that the men minded the babies and children while the women cast the ballot. He had found in his own home that the women were waiting in line for the chance to enter the booth. And the women, he said, were so proud that they had the vote that they put on their best dress when they went out on election day to voice their sentiments.

He denied, too, that enfranchisement of women caused discord in the family. He had found in his own home that the men minded the babies and children while the women cast the ballot. He had found in his own home that the women were waiting in line for the chance to enter the booth. And the women, he said, were so proud that they had the vote that they put on their best dress when they went out on election day to voice their sentiments.

He denied, too, that enfranchisement of women caused discord in the family. He had found in his own home that the men minded the babies and children while the women cast the ballot. He had found in his own home that the women were waiting in line for the chance to enter the booth. And the women, he said, were so proud that they had the vote that they put on their best dress when they went out on election day to voice their sentiments.

He denied, too, that enfranchisement of women caused discord in the family. He had found in his own home that the men minded the babies and children while the women cast the ballot. He had found in his own home that the women were waiting in line for the chance to enter the booth. And the women, he said, were so proud that they had the vote that they put on their best dress when they went out on election day to voice their sentiments.

He denied, too, that enfranchisement of women caused discord in the family. He had found in his own home that the men minded the babies and children while the women cast the ballot. He had found in his own home that the women were waiting in line for the chance to enter the booth. And the women, he said, were so proud that they had the vote that they put on their best dress when they went out on election day to voice their sentiments.

He denied, too, that enfranchisement of women caused discord in the family. He had found in his own home that the men minded the babies and children while the women cast the ballot. He had found in his own home that the women were waiting in line for the chance to enter the booth. And the women, he said, were so proud that they had the vote that they put on their best dress when they went out on election day to voice their sentiments.

He denied, too, that enfranchisement of women caused discord in the family. He had found in his own home that the men minded the babies and children while the women cast the ballot. He had found in his own home that the women were waiting in line for the chance to enter the booth. And the women, he said, were so proud that they had the vote that they put on their best dress when they went out on election day to voice their sentiments.

He denied, too, that enfranchisement of women caused discord in the family. He had found in his own home that the men minded the babies and children while the women cast the ballot. He had found in his own home that the women were waiting in line for the chance to enter the booth. And the women, he said, were so proud that they had the vote that they put on their best dress when they went out on election day to voice their sentiments.

He denied, too, that enfranchisement of women caused discord in the family. He had found in his own home that the men minded the babies and children while the women cast the ballot. He had found in his own home that the women were waiting in line for the chance to enter the booth. And the women, he said, were so proud that they had the vote that they put on their best dress when they went out on election day to voice their sentiments.

He denied, too, that enfranchisement of women caused discord in the family. He had found in his own home that the men minded the babies and children while the women cast the ballot. He had found in his own home that the women were waiting in line for the chance to enter the booth. And the women, he said, were so proud that they had the vote that they put on their best dress when they went out on election day to voice their sentiments.

He denied, too, that enfranchisement of women caused discord in the family. He had found in his own home that the men minded the babies and children while the women cast the ballot. He had found in his own home that the women were waiting in line for the chance to enter the booth. And the women, he said, were so proud that they had the vote that they put on their best dress when they went out on election day to voice their sentiments.

STATE APPROVES ELECTRIC MERGER

Light and Power Companies in

Charlottesville Are Consolidated.

Approval was given by the State Corporation Commission yesterday to the merger of the two electric-lighting and power companies which have been operating in Charlottesville and Albemarle County. The agreement of consolidation was entered into on November 24 between the Redland Power Company and the Charlottesville and Albemarle Railway Company.

The Redland Power Company has constructed and placed in operation an electric power station, with power house, at the intersection of the Rappahannock and Ohio River, and the right of way of the Chesapeake and Ohio Railway Company. It has outstanding $400,000 of stock and $150,000 of first-mortgage ten-year 6-per-cent gold bonds.

The Charlottesville and Albemarle Railway Company now operates a line of electric cars between Charlottesville and Albemarle County. It has a capital stock of par value of $60,000, and $25,000 par value first-mortgage bonds, $67,000 general mortgage bonds and $100,000 2-year improvement and extension notes.

After the merger takes effect the new company is to be known as the Charlottesville and Albemarle Railway Company. Its first office will be at the C. O. Todd, of Baltimore, president; John L. Livers, vice-president; Norman James, treasurer; George S. Walker, assistant treasurer, and E. E. Starke, secretary.

The authorized capital stock of the merged company is placed at $700,000, of which $200,000 is to be paid for the stock. The company will issue of $750,000, to take up all present bonded indebtedness, is also authorized.

WATER REBATES
Real Estate Exchange Regards Board's Resolution as Important.

The Real Estate Exchange of this city has received notice of the passage by the Administrative Board of the following resolution, which is of great importance, not only to the exchange, but to the property owners of the city.

Resolved, That where underground leaks occur in water pipes of metered service, the water company does not show on the surface, and the owner, agent or tenant, who is notified of the existence of such leaks, shall have promptly made all necessary repairs, and the water company shall be held liable for the cost of such repairs, provided that no rebate of this character shall be made more than once in twelve months, without notice to and the approval of this board.

HELD FOR MURDER
Coroner's Jury Places Blame for Woman's Death on Husband.

A coroner's jury, convened yesterday afternoon at Richmond, returned a verdict placing blame for the death of a woman on her husband. The woman, who was named Mary Rogers, was shot and killed last Monday afternoon in an alley between City and Marshall Streets near First Street.

Rogers, a colored woman, was affected by a severe attack of insanity. She was confined in the lunatic asylum at the State Hospital, and was released on November 15, 1913, by the State Board of Prisoners.

On Thanksgiving Day there will be service in Monumental Church at 11 o'clock.

BUY STAMPS EARLY,
SAYS POSTMASTER

If Public Will Lay in Christmas Supply Now, the Service Will Be Greatly Improved.

"Do your stamp shopping early and avoid having to stand in line for hours," says Postmaster Edgar Allan, Jr., in speaking of the Christmas mail rush.

If people would think to buy their Christmas stamps now, while they are doing their early shopping, they would find that there will be no such scenes in the lobby of the post-office as we are accustomed to see there these days, with lines of people waiting for stamps.

By a little thought, every one can make a rough estimate of the amount of postage to be used in mailing Christmas parcels. Having made this estimate, if each one will drop into the post-office between now and December 21, and lay in the supply in advance, the whole task of handling Christmas mails expeditiously will be simplified.

Parcels of Christmas tags have practically eliminated registered mail. By this new system, a parcel can be insured for $25 by payment of a 5-cent fee, and insured for $50 by the payment of a 10-cent fee. These tags, which must be filled out by the postal clerk, can be purchased just as easily now as on Christmas Eve, as a matter of fact, much more easily.

Postmaster Allan has an assistant, W. Ross Southward, have prepared a small circular of information of the parcel post, which is calculated to simplify the mailing of Christmas parcels. The postmaster is having 25,000 of these circulars printed, and will distribute them generally.

Building Permits.
Building permits were issued yesterday as follows:

David McDaniel, to build a two-story frame dwelling on the north side of Jacques Street between Randolph and Lombard Streets, at cost $1,000.

T. H. Jackson, to build a detached two-story brick dwelling on the south side of Main Street between Vine Street and Allen Avenue, at cost $1,000.

PHOTOGRAPHS
FOSTER

Not best because largest, but largest because best.

The Royal Laundry,
Phone Monroe 1058 and 1059.
Be Convinced.

MANY LOAN CARS FOR CONVENTION

Richmond Automobile Club Preparing for Big Sightseeing

Trip Tuesday.

These members of the Richmond Automobile Club have offered the use of their cars to Chairman B. W. Wilson, of the subcommittee on cars, for the national convention of the American Automobile Association, which opens at the Jefferson auditorium on Monday.

W. H. Adams, E. C. Pelouse, John H. Cohen, Jr., D. A. Prentiss, O. J. Sands, W. S. Rhoads, B. A. Blenner, E. H. Ferguson, Phil O. Kelly, Claude L. Bunting, J. Stuart Bryan, E. A. Stump, J. E. Tragle, Kent W. Hood, Ivan M. By, L. T. Pemberton, Alvin M. Smith, James F. Bradley, John R. Swartout, T. Palmatary, A. O. Swink, Foster Motor Car Co., J. E. Grass, T. G. Sydnor, Thomas Gresham, E. A. Roen, Forest Rose, C. D. Wingfield, Dr. Stuart McGuire, A. L. Strauss, S. T. Morgan, Jr., Archer G. Jones, Jones Motor Car Co., T. A. Cary Lewis, C. Larus, H. C. Ruppert, Preston Belvin, John Bagby, Henry Wallerstein, William Purcell, Rufus C. Williams, H. W. Anderson, Stanley Bayless, H. P. Hoan, E. W. Evans, W. G. Toney, C. B. Attrim.

The latest contributors to the fund for the entertainment of delegates are the Gordon Motor Co., Lewis Kaufman, Motors Thalhimer and L. T. Pemberton. Chairman Preston Belvin of the convention committee, announced yesterday that all members of the Richmond Automobile Club are invited to the annual banquet, and can get tickets for themselves and friends by communicating with him not later than Monday. The banquet will be held Tuesday night at 8 o'clock.

One of the incidents of the seeing Richmond trip